PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING.
(Sunday Excepted.)
Corner of South Temple and East Temple
Streets, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Horace G. Whitney - Business Manager SUBSCRIPTION PRICES.

One Year (In Advance:) 53.60
Six Months 4.70
Three Months 2.25
One Month 2.25
Saturday Edition, Per Year 2.00
Semi-Weekly Per Year 2.00

Correspondence and other reading matter for publication should be addressed to the THITOE.

Address all business communications and all remittances.

THE DESCRIPT NEWS.

Salt Lake City. Utah.

Entered at the Postoffice of Salt Lake City as second class matter according to the Act of Congress, March, 8, 1879.

SALT LAKE CITY, MARCH 29, 1907

CONFERENCE NOTICE.

The Seventy-eighth annual general Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will assemble in the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, on Friday, April 5, 1907, at 10 o'clock a. m. A full attendance of the officers and members is hereby re-

The general Priesthood meeting will be held in the Tabernacle on Saturday, April 6, at 7 o'clock p. m.

JOSEPH F. SMITH, JOHN R. WINDER. ANTHON H. LUND.

The annual conference of the Sunday School Union will be held in the Tabernacle on Sunday, April 7, at 7 o'clock JOSEPH F. SMITH. General Superintendent.

VETERANS, ATTENTION!

This is for the "boys" of "Zion's" Camp" and the "Mormon Battalion."

Surviving members of those famous organizations that played such a prominent part in the events of the early history of the Church, are cordially invited to attend a reunion to be given in their honor by the First Presidency at the Lion House on Tuesday afternoon, April 9. This will be one of the great events of the April conference.

The First Presidency have for some time felt that such a reunion would be a proper acknowledgement of the importance of the services rendered by those who in the early days, cheerfully responded when the call was made upon them. The veterans are rapidly being removed from this sphere of action. There are very few survivors of "Zion's Camp," and, possibly, not more than fifty members of the "Mormon Battalion." They are seattered over a wide area of the country. Some live in Utah, some in California, some in Arizona. Some, probably, have settled in Canada. It would be well it as many as possible could be brought together

We hope this invitation will reach all for whom it is intended. Friends of the veterans chould call their attention to it, in case they do not happen to see it themselves, and we suggest that those who live far away and may not be able to undertake the journey without financial or other assistance, should receive such from their friends, in order that the reunion may be complete and an event never to be forgotten by those in whose honor it is given.

at the coming reunion.

We als suggest that Stake Presidents and Bishops look after this matter and see to it that none is absent for want of means to undertake the

The invitation is also cordially extended to the wives and widows of the members of the two organizations.

We hope to see a general rally of the veterans. To many of them it will be the last before the great reunion on the Veterans, attention!

JOSEPH F. SMITH. JOHN R. WINDER. ANTHON H. LUND,

THE PROBLEM OF HONESTY.

The Sacramento Bee, commenting upon the scandals that have brought unsavory fame to San Francisco, takes the view that non-partisanship in the election of municipal officials would go far as a remedy for corruption. The

"It would be a long step toward reform if every good citizen would make up his mind to benceforth pay no heed to pointles in voting for candidates for local offices. It is of no importance whatever on what local ticket a man may be nominated, although it is the favorite trick of busses to dwell upon the press of although it is the favorhe trick of bosses to dwell apon the need of strengthening the party by gaining control of the local administration. Never was a party actually strengthened in that way, but many times a party has been disgraced and dishonored by the crimes of scoundreis in public office masquerading as Republicans, Democrats, Union Labor men or something else. The San Francisco Supervisors are nominally Union Labor men, and with one or two exceptions all are scoundrels, who will not even stay bought. But they will not even 'stay bought.' But they are to more representative of Union Labor than Ruef and Schmitz, both nominally Republicans, are representative of Republicanism." The experience of Pennsylvania IIlustrates very clearly the disgrace unprincipled officials can bring upon a party, when they are permitted to go on without being subjected to the rays of the sunlight eleverly directed by a vigorous opposition. According to the Philadelphia Public Ledger, it has been discovered that "the building of the rascality of which there is any rec-a well-organized combination to loot the treasury, and that it operated by shutting out all but favored bidders for the capitol work and by enveloping the construction in a cloud of mystery which none but those in the ring could dissipate, appears to admit of no question whatever.

It is claimed that of the $13,000,000 expended possibly one-third, or more, was stolen, or thrown away, and that it was only when a state treasurer of the opposition party was elected that the irregularities became known to the public. It is to be noted, the Ledger observes, that there are minute and particular laws governing the expenditure of public moneys and carefully drawn statutes regulating the letting of contracts; that concerned in the capitol enterprise were two governors of the state; that other well-known men of standing exercised discretionary and supervisory powers; that it was a public work as well guarded as t is possible to guard any operation. All this did not prevent the dishonesty which might have continued indefinitely but for the light that was thrown upon the transactions from the other side. There is no doubt that, as communities and commonwealths grow and become immensely wealthy, the temptations to corruption grow in proportion. How to secure honesty in the administration of public affairs is one of the great problems before American citi-

UNCONQUERED CANCER.

Under the above heading Dr. Leonard K. Hirschberg, an eminent New York physician and surgeon discusses most interestingly, a subject that will command attention wherever it is read; for in every state, almost in every city and sufferers from the frightful malady Utah and Sait Lake are no exception to the rule. Sometimes a cure is affected, but what proves efficacious in one case fails signally in another, probably owing to the fact that the causes are different and the physical conditions of the patient entirely dissimilar. No doctor seems wise enough to determine that. In the old ploneer days of Utah when roots and herbs were utilized to a greater extent than now as a panacea for this affliction some remarkable cures were reported. The same remedies applied today are not infrequently and wholly ineffectual. As Dr. Hirschberg declares, it is an undiagnosed and unconquered disease. Mark what he says of it:

Consumption, pneumonia and typhold fever stand before cancer on the list of civilized mankind's mortal foes, but their terrors are fas: disappearing. What do we know about cancer? Tomorrow, perhaps, we may know a great deal, but today. If we would be honest with ourselves, we must admit that we know next to nothing.

We don't know the cause of the dis-

Except in a small proportion of very early cases, we don't know how to cure

We don't know whether it is heredi-

We don't know whether it is hereditary.

We don't know if it is induced by peculiarities of diet.

We don't know to what extent it depends upon climate.

We don't know whether it is contagious or infectious.

We don't know why it reserves its attacks for oldish people.

We don't know why it is increasing.

All we may do at present is to keep a sharp lookout for incipient cancer and cut them out ruthlessly.

In the United States during the census year of 1900 a few less than 33,000 an the Chited States during the cen-sus year of 1900 a few less than 33,000 men and women died of cancer. Two-thirds of them were more than forty years old and under seventy.

AS TO INSANITY.

The immense energy of money and talent combined is now-a-days often set in motion for the purpose of saving great criminals from the consequences of their acts, under the pretense of insanity. Those who have studied history on that subject do not admit that murderers, as a rule, are insane. Pausanias was not insane when he plotted the death of Philip of Macedon and chose a moment when the stabbing would be most spectacular, the nuptial festival of Cleopatra. He simply followed the dictates of his passions, urging him to avenge an insult,

Among the motives that inspire to assassination are great disappointment in the pursuit of the aims of ambition, or love. Misdirected patriotism impelled Booth and his associates to their concerted attacks at Washington, and prompted Louvel to attempt to rid France of the Bourbons by killing the Duke de Berri, Avenging the wrongs of others resulted in the assassination of Kapodestrinus and Hussein in Europe, and of Hitosubachi in Japan; avenging the wrongs done to self, the truly egotistic motive, compassed the death of Gambetta and Gagarin; while Seliverskeff, considered by the nihilists of Paris as a dangerous spy, was assassinated for reasons of self-preserva-

And thus throughout the long list of assassins, from the first fratricide of history to the last, insanity is the great exception, unless every crime committed for the gratification of a desire for revenge can be charged to that cause.

"IN GOD WE TRUST."

The question is not infrequently proprounded, why is not the motto, "In God We Trust" on the earlier coinage of the United States? A writer who has made an investigation of the matter, and who is an expert on old coins, furnishes some interesting and instructive information on the subject. He says that the introduction of a religious motto or device, was suggested at different times by various individuals, but the suggestion that was finally adopted came from a Maryland farmer.

In 1861 when Salmon P. Chase was secretary of the treasury, he received a letter from the farmer, whose name is not given to history. The latter suggested that, as we claimed to be a Christian people we should be willing to admit that fact on our coinage. The letter was sent to James Pollock. director of the Mint. That official discussed the question of the recognition of the sovereignty of God and our trust in Him on our coins. He stated that Mr. Chase, like himself, favored the introduction of some appropriate State capitol was one of the greatest southment which he believed an intelli-State capitol was one of the greatest pieces of theft, fraud, and unblushing rascality of which there is any record," and that the whole job was a "hideous nightmars of robbery." Legal proof of fraud, the Ledger says, has not been found. But that there was the ensuing year he again incorporated the recommendation in his annual love the ledger favor than had been the control of the greatest pieces of theft, fraud, and unblushing rascality of which there is any recommendation of some appropriate sentiment which he believed an intelligent and discriminating public would story, yet the necessity for them being favor of. But Congress failed to take cognizance of his recommendation in his annual legal to the found in the floral bracelets. By account of the properties of the propert report, and referred to the subject in the following words: "The motto suggested, God Our Trust, is taken from our American hymn, the 'Star Spangled Banner.' Let us reverently acknowledge His sovereignty, and let our coinage declare our trust in God."

It is a matter of recorded congressional history that Mr. Poliock persistently pursued the subject until favorable action was secured. The first coin to bear the imprint we now so much revere, was a two cent bronze piece under authority of Congress April 22, 1862. An act of Congress of March 3, 1865 made it obligatory to stamp the motto upon all coins issued after that date.

To Harry K. Thaw-Look pleasant. After storm, sunshine; after sunshine, more storm. "Love. I awalt thee." since a Georgia poetess. That's right, Learn to sing and to wait. In Europe the brain-storm center seems to have shifted from Russia to Roumania. It looks as though the White House had become a clearinghouse for railroad magnates. An Omaha bank teller broke his arm counting silver coin. In its way this breaks the record. Ruef will have friends so long as he has money, and he will have money so long as he has graft.

Mrs. Russell Sage has given a hundred thousand dollars to the Y. M. C. A. of New York. The widow's mite, as it Hearst has sued the Chicago Tribune for two and a half million dollars for libel. Evidently he finds more pleasure in libeling than in being libelied.

"The sound of a bell which can be heard 4,500 feet through the water can be heard through the air only 456 feet." says an exchange. This sounds fishy.

"It's what you eat that makes you what you are," say the experts of the agricultural department. And when everybody eats pure food, will everybody be pure? A fatal four-handed pistol duel has been fought at Bowle, Texas, The eternal fitness of things demands that duels in Bowle be fought with bowle-

The navy department is not certain which pays the better, to advertise in the newspapers or by colored posters for recruits. Colored posters should bring in the most negro recruits.

J. J. Hill says he felt sure all the time that the Minnesota supreme court would decide as it did in the Great Northern stock issue case. Still he is glad, no doubt, to have assurance made doubly sure by the decision. The house of commons has rejected a bill to introduce the metric system. That was to be expected in a country that adheres to the duodecimal currency system and did not adopt the Gregorian calendar until 1751. In the first instalment of the autobiography of Dr. Appleton Morgan, published in the April number of New Shakespeareana, Emerson is credited with the origination of the Baconian theory. It isn't to his credit, Colonel George L. Brown, commandty-sixth infantry, has received instruction from Secretary of War Taft to devote personal attention to an inquiry into the manner of practise marches and make a report May 1 on means necessary to be employed to make the marches more attractive. The way to make them attractive is to make them constructive with allowance for mileage both ways.

The total wealth of the United States is estimated at $107,104,211,917. This includes the value of real property and improvements, live stock, farm implements and machinery, factory machinery, tools and implements, gold and silver coin and bullion, railroads and their equipment, street railways, shipping, water works, etc. New York is the wealthiest of the states, Pennsylvania comes next. If the total population is estimated at $5,000,000, it will be seen that an equal distribution of the nation's wealth would entitle each man. woman and child to $1,256 as his, or her, share. A considerable number must have very much less than their share if figures tell the truth, since so many have more than the statistics allow to each.

THE NEWSPAPER MAN.

Baltimore News.

Baltimore News.

By some tradition as old as printing the man who writes must have other that a pecuniary motive. Perhaps the idea and the practice rest on the theory that it would spoil the man who lives by his pen to be fat and sleek. Big pay would exterminate the breed. All the same, the modern reporter is an ambassador to all the powers that be if without the purple of his office. He is the confident of the great, last must keep his trust as a matter of course and with no special gratefulness from anybody. He is the defly companion of the mighty, but must put on no "lugs." He is patronized by his intellectual inferiors, but make give no sign of his martyrdom to the supercents of income. must give no sign of his martyrdom to the superfortty of ignorance. The glory that he makes for others is not for him. He must rest fameless, nameless and

GIVE HIM THE GLAD HAND.

Gresham Herald. We hope our folks will not forget when meeting a stranger on the street, or on the car, that he may be from the cast. At any rate give him a cordial welcome to Oregon. Tell him of the good things to be found here, how we are growing, the beautiful climate, the water, and, well tell him that this is God's own country and he will do well to stay here. But above all don't disto stay here. But above all, don't dis-

AN EASTER FOREGLEAM.

Boston Transcript.

granted them for a decade or so, and now the gold or silver or jeweled wrist band being something really quite commonplace it has been thought to lend variety to it by shaping it of flowers. These flower bands will be rather pretty to see, and if they help to carry out, as of course they will, a color scheme devised for the head, they will contribute as few trifles introduced in the last few years have to the gayety of the Easter parade.

THE "EMOLUMENTS."

Springfield Republican. Springfield Republican.
Missouri boasts that one of her congressmen has saved $11,000 in two years out of his salary and "emoluments," and has started a bank. This is a case where virtue becomes cause for suspicion. As up to the present the salary of a congressman for two years has only amounted to $10,000, some pestiferous person will next be asking what the "emoluments" were and how they were gotten. and how they were gotten.

JUST FOR FUN.

Misunderstood Him.

Misunderstood Him.

One day an army chaplain saw a soldier by the name of McDonnell, making for the back door of a saloon. "McDonnell!" the chaplain shouted —"McDonnell!" Oh, McDonnell!" McDonnell turned, gave him a hasty look, frowned, and dayted into the bar. The chaplain lottered outside the door till McDonnell came forth again. "McDonnell." he said, reproachfully, "didn't you hear me calling you?" "Yes, sir," McDonnell answered, "faid; but—but I only had the price of one drink."—Harper's Weekly.

Probably Catching.

A young matron of Baltimore, up-on entering her nursery, found her youngest in tears. youngest in tears.
"Why, what's the matter with Harry?" she asked the nurse.
"He's mad, mum," explained nurse,
"because I wouldn't let him go to the Simmonses' acrost the strate."
"And why wouldn't you let him go, Norah?"

"Because, mum, they're havin' sha-rades, so he said, an' I wasn't sure whether he'd had thim or not."—Harper's Weekly.

An Explanation.

"Effic," said Margie, who was laboriously spelling words from a first reader, "how can I tell which is a 'd' and which is a 'b'." "Why," replied Effic, wisely, "the 'd' has its tummy on its back."—Harper's Weekly.

Dentistry for a Shotgun.

Dentistry for a Shotgun.

The "exchange" advertisements in the daily newspapers are not always wanting in humor. Here is one for example: An advertiser who has a large burglar-proof safe, but no use for it, wishes to exchange it for a saltwater fishing outfit, and a dentist who is short on guns, but apparently long on time, is willing to do professional work in exchange for a good "hammerless breach-loader."—Forest and Stream.

Force of Habit. Drill Sergeant-Recruit Cohen, what is the length of the military step?

"Eighty centimeters, segeant."
"Wrong; it's 75 centimeters."
"Very well, sergeant; I'll let you have it for that."—Transatlantic tales.

Lucky She Didn't Hear Him. Marks—Say, old man, did I ever tell you about the awful fright I gat on my wedding day? Parks—S-sh! No man should speak that way about his wife—Bes-ton Transcript.

RECENT PUBLICATIONS.

The April number of Broadway Mag. The April humber of Broadway Magazine contains the following special articles: "Hearst versus McClellan," Brvin Wardman; "Society: A Day with the Real Thing," Mary Manners; "Helen Miller Gould," Mabel Potter Daggett; "When Pather Knickerbocker Goes to Market," Harris Merton Lyon: "As the City Seems to the Artist," Annie Nathan Meyer, and Society in Miniature," Ruth Hamilton Fuller, and in addition, a number of short stories, poetry and other features.—7 West 22nd St., New York.

have long had a strangle-hold on the government, issuing their orders to the government, issuing their orecers to the highest authorities without fear of disobedience, is the assertion made by Gilson Gardner in Success Magazine for April. "Paderewski in Private Life," by W. G. Fitzgerald, lifts the curtain upon the home surroundings of the great Polish pianist, and is illustrated with views of his magnificent villa at Morges in the Savoyard Alps, and his Polish estate at Kosna in the Carpathians. Vance Thompson brings his history of the Dreyfus case to a close in this number; "Fools and Their Money," by Frank Fayant, and "My Life—So Far," by the late Josiah Flynt, are continued. "The American Heiress Co., Ltd.," by Porter Emerson Browne, "The Last Game," by William Hamilton Osborne, and "Burton's Conscience," by Wilbur Nesbit, are stories of interest.—32 Waverly Place, New York.

The important debates on political and economic questions between William Jennings Bryan, for the Democratic party, and Senator Albert J. Beveridge, for the party of the administration, form the leading articles in The Reader for April. The Reader contains the first installment of "The Revolt of Cailban," a new and merry novelette by Harold MacGrath, the author of "Half a Rogue" and "The Man on the Box." Albert Hale, the widely known authority on South American conditions, writes about Caracas, the capital of the unquiet little republic of Venezuela, and gives a striking portrait of zuela, and gives a striking portrait of Venezuela's president, Cipriano Castro. Rene Bache, in an illustrated article on "The Sun and the Seasons." explains a recent scientific discovery which will assist in the care of crops. The April Reader is rich with fiction of the finest type. Besides Meredith Nicholson's great novel, "The Port of Missing Men," which comes to an exciting conclusion in this number, and Harvid clusion in this number, and Harold MacGrath's new novelette. The Reader contains stories by Minnie Barboar Adams, Harriet Gaylord and Arthur Colton. Other contributions are by Witter Bynner, Katherine Perry, Louise Betts Edwards and Tom Masson. The Reader for April is one of the excellent magazines on the news-stand.—The Bobbs-Merrill Co., Indianapolis.

A distinct contribution to contemporaneous literature is the epic poem, "At Pilate's Juagement Seat." by Thomas Nelson Page, in the April Woman's Home Companion. In this poem, which occupies two full pages of the magazine, Mr. Page departs from the usual procedure and describes the judgment from Pilate's point of view. Another feature in this number is a characteristic editorial by Edward Everett Hale, "Some Reminiscences of the Nation's Capitol." Homer Davenport, who recently visited the Arabian Desert for this magazine, has a notable article, entitled "The Arab Horse in Legend and Story," in which is given a wealth of first-hand information on a very interesting subject. The ever helpful subject of home building is treated by Heary Harrison Lewis in an article, "Selecting the Site." An unusually strong array of fiction headed by a timely short story, "Mrs. Sackett's Easter Bonnet," by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman and including Josephine Daskam Bacon's serial, "The Domestic Adventurers," and short stories by Jennetie Lee, Temple Bailey, Lulu Judson Moody and Gelsten Spring give added interest to the number. Metropolitan Annex, Madison Square, New York.

CORSET SPECIAL For SATURDAY Only!

Our entire stock of Corsets-including Warner Bros. Famous Rust Proof and C-B a la Spirite, embodying correct style, perfect fit and splendid quality—will be placed on sale TOMORROW AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

Attractive Corset Reduct'ns for Tomorr'w Only

Regular $1.00 Corsets for 85c Regular $2.00 Corsets for $1.70 Our net $1.00 Corsets for 90c Regular $2.50 Corsets for $2.10 Regular $1.25 Corsets for $1.05 Regular $2.75 Corsets for$2.35 Regular $1.50 Corsets for $1.25 Regular $3.00 Corsets for $2.50 Regular $1.75 Corsets for $1.45 Regular $3.50 Corsets for $2.95 Regular $4.00 Corsets for $3.35 Z. C. M. I. Where You Get the Best.

OUR DRUG STORE IS AT 112-114 MAIN STREET

LAKE THEATRE Mgr. AND TOMORROW NIGHT Matinee Saturday. Spran and William G. Col-

ONNIE RIER ry of COTLAND Prices—Evening, 25c to $1.50; Mati-nee, 25c to 75, 400 seats at $1. Next Attraction; Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Roselle Knott ja "Allce-Sit-by-the-Fire." Sale now on.

Orpheum

MODERN VAUDEVILLE ALL THIS WEEK! Louise Agoust & Co. 4 — Rianos — 4 Cameron & Flanagan Aurie Dagweil La Gette

Appleby Kinodrome Every evening (except Sunday) 75c.
50c. 25c Box seats $1.00. Matiness
Daily Except Sunday and Monday 50c and 10c. Box seats 75c.

Grand Theatre TONICHT.

Matinee Saturday, 2:30 p. The Famous Originals, Murray & Mack AROUND THE TOWN !!

Pretty Girls, Fundy The Big Fun Show. Next Week-The Leighton Players

YRIC THEATRE VAUDEVILLE SUPREME!!

Evenings, Two Performances, 7:30 and 9:15. Matinee Daily Except Sunday as PRICES-NIGHTS-19c. 20c.

COLUMBUS HALL

No. 21 West First South St. Dancing taught quickly by an im proved method. Waltz and Two Ste in three lessons. Beginners class every Tuesday Eve., 8 to 11 p. m.; advanced Thursday and Saturday Eve yanced Thursday Ti30 to 9 p. m. Afternoon Classes every Tuesday. Thursday and Saturday. Socials every Thursday and Saturday Eve.

AUDITORIUM!

RICHARDS STREET.

WHO'S YOUR GIRL? POPULAR LADY VOTING CONTEST. Last week of Contest and great interest is being taken.

She can have a beautiful Upright Plano FREEL, a pair of Gold Plated Ball-bearing or a pair of Nickel Plated Ball-bearing or a pair of Nickel Plated Ball-bearing Roller Skates. Each admission ticket will be provided with a Voting Coupon. Write the name of your facilities of the Lady on the coupon and deposit it in the ballot be at the entrance to the Auditorium. Coupons are good for date of issue only. Hallets will be counted by competent judges each evening and the result posted on bulletin board in the looby of the Auditorium.

Plano on exhibition in the window of the Clayton Music Company, Main Street.

Ladies admitted free, mernings and afternoons, except Saturdays. Music by Heid's Band. Rink opened mornings, 30-12; af-ternoons, 2-5; evenings, 7:30 to 10:30

CUTLER BROS CO.

STETSON Men's Work And Other Makes Pants

Worsted Pants $3.00

$4.50

to

Men's Hosierv We are the Original Knit Goods House for Utah.

Buster Brown

and Sailor

Suits

Worsted

$4.00

$4.50

$5.00

BOARDING EXPENSE RETURNED IF WE FAIL TO CURE.

There is no material too good and no construction too

if it will make them any better. Come in and test

CHAMBERLAIN MUSIC CO.

51-53 Main Street.

I MAKE LECTRICAL SIGNS

for illuminated puzzles. My patent hipped and mirrored gold and silvet lass signs are the most brilliant, ade. No cleaning. Brass signs and tetal raised letters.

CHAS. PETERSON.

SIGN SPECIALIST, 20 RICHARDS ST

KNABE.

expensive for the

them.

The only school in the world making this offer. I have cured every case coming to me, and I know I can cure you or I could not afford to make the above extraordinary proposition. SOME OF MY PUPILS COULD NOT UTTER A SOUND BUT WERE RETURNED TO DELIGATED RELATIVES AND FRIENDS ABLE TO TALK FLUENTLY AND WITHOUT A MOMENT'S HESITATION.

My prices are reasonable. Send for my book giving full information, etc. References Deseret National Bank. State Bank of Utah, Salt Lake City Provo Commercial and Savings Bank and State Bank of Utah, Provo, Utah The Bassett School for Stammerers WM. E. BASSETT, DIRECTOR, PROVO, UTAH.

SAFETY RAZOR

Complete with 12 blades and $5.00 Willes-Horne Drug Co., News Building. By the Monument. Phones: Bell 374-1830. ind. 374-1578

Can Now Fill Orders Promptly

CENTRAL COAL & COKE CO.

"At the Sign of the Peacock."

38 S. Main.

We are sole agents and invite you inspection of our handsome display Beesley

Music KNABE